Christmas Illumination

Norway to Be a Blaze of Glory—Contest On

Under plans now being perfected by the William Henry Stone Post of the American Legion, Norway's Christmas of 1927 will be ushered in with a blaze of glory for the local post is starting a "Light Up for Christmas Contest" in which homes, churches, places of business, parks and streets will be eligible to compete.

"Let's show our neighbors what a town we have," said a prominent Legion official, "and make it the trading mecca for miles around by transforming the community into a magic town of light. Other communities are doing it, many no larger than Norway."

These boys, who have a way of going after anything that will boost the town in a manner that brings great success, have already talked with some of the enterprising merchants along the street who are keen for the idea. The idea is to run a contest from December 10 to January 2 to adjudge the best lighted place of business and the best lighted home. By lighting is meant "decorative lighting" that is put up for the Christmas holidays.

Outside Lighting Counts

It is the outside lighting effects that are to be judged—the impressions the visitors get. It's the outside appearances that will beautify the town as a whole, most.

Under the rules of the contest every home and place of business is eligible to compete. In order to make it fair for the small places as well as the large, and for places not having as ideal conditions to decorate easily, the original working conditions will be taken into consideration. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the greatest improvements.

List of Prizes

The total number of prizes have not yet been decided upon but there will be many—and real worthwhile ones. The Legion Post is to put up a cash prize of $25 for the best decorated store. Merchants will contribute prizes for the best decorated homes. The complete list is now being made up and will be ready for announcement in the next issue of this paper.

School Children to Enter

In addition to the above list of prizes, a cash prize of $3 will be given to the high school student who writes the best essay on "Why Light up for Christmas?" Another cash prize of $2 will be given to the pupils in the lower grades for the best essay on the same subject.

As the contest progresses, new plans will be worked up and announced from time to time in the Advertiser. Five or seven judges will be announced to select the winning prizes and essays.

Everyone will have an equal chance to win one of the prizes and everyone is invited to compete. Watch this paper for further announcements.

In connection with the "Light Up for Christmas Contest" to be run by the William Henry Stone Post of the American Legion, Norway, the local store of the Central Maine Power Company has procured copies of a Christmas booklet, "Light Up for Cheerfullness" which gives some practical ideas and suggestions of Christmas lighting in the home. Copies may be obtained free.

G. Julian Brown has been confined to his bed with lumbago since Sunday. He is gaining and hopes to get out again within ten days.

Mrs. Bertha S. Noyes and her mother, Mrs. Eliza Whitman, left, Thursday morning for Salem, Mass., where Mrs. Whitman will remain during the winter with her son, Walter Whitman and family. Mrs. Noyes plans to visit there some ten days.

Life's Journey Ended

Horace Sanborn

Horace Sanborn, for years a well known mechanic in Norway, passed away December 2 at his home on Main Street. His age was 74 years. He had been in failing health for some time, but a fall down a flight of cellar stairs six weeks ago brought on trouble that proved fatal.

Mr. Sanborn was born in Oxford, May 26, 1853, the son of David and Lydia Cordwell Sanborn. He moved to Norway many years ago, being at natural mechanic, he invented and manufactured numerous articles of iron, in company with his brother, Ellet. During the bicycle craze in 1895, he conducted a repair shop on Fair Street. When a young man, he spent some time in Arizona and other western states, working wherever a mechanic might find employment.

He married Minnie Williams of Norway about 26 years ago and they resided in Portland for some years where he had a machine shop with his brother.

About a year and a half ago they returned to Norway, as his health permitted, he canvassed and for a time was janitor at Rex Theatre.

Mr. Sanborn was a member of the Congregational Church and for a long time was a deacon, also superintendent in the Sunday school for some time. He was highly respected and faithful to his duties as church member and citizen.

Besides his widow, he leaves one brother, Ellet, and one sister, Mrs. Henry Crosby, both of Portland.

The funeral held Monday was attended by Rev. Raymond Morgan. Interment in the Pine Grove Cemetery.

William McCann

Funeral services for William McCann, who died of pneumonia, Wednesday, Nov. 30, at his home, 165 School St., Gardner, Mass., were held Friday evening in Gardner at Smith Chapel, Vernon St., Interment took place Saturday morning in Pine Grove Cemetery Lynn, Mass.

At one time Mr. McCann carried on a farm near Bolster's Mills but for the past few years has been a resident of Gardner, Mass. and has been in the employ of the Florence Oil Stove Company. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sadie Brackett McCann, two daughters, Mrs. Sallie Cummings of Connecticut, Mrs. Harriett Gonyer and a son, William, who lives at home. Also five grandchildren, John, Sallie and June Cummings, Shirley Pearson and Ernest Gonyer.

SHOP AND MAIL EARLY

There will be no city deliveries on Monday, December 26, after 12 noon.

During the holiday time mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter within a few days. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, cards and letters at least ten days before Christmas.

Mail addressed to points within 1 day's travel, mail not later than December 20th, with two days travel, not later than December 18; within three days travel not later than December 16; for more distant points, not later than December 14.

All parcels cards and letters for local delivery mail not later than December 22.

All parcels, cards and letters may be indorsed, "Do not open until Christmas."

Rural carriers will leave early in the morning so as to complete their tour in advance of schedule time.

Florence Rice of Brooklyn, N. Y., is a guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Stone for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Snow, Paris Street, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, weighing nine and one-half pounds. She has been named Viola Irene.

READ, CONSIDER, AND GIVE THOUGHT!

Patronize our advertisers. They are among the most reliable of your neighbors and friends, those to whom you would turn in time of stress or trouble. Whom would you more gladly deal with or assist than your neighbor? Who has a better claim on your co-operation and assistance? Who better supports all good local movements and institutions, with both sympathy and money. Who are more reliable or more ready to make good anything that chances to be unsatisfactory than your local merchants?

If your neighbors are in poverty, you can not be prosperous; but if your neighbors are prosperous, you can not fail to share some of their prosperity.

Patronizing your home merchants is only one good way of helping your town and thereby helping yourself. Our merchants are particularly reliable men. We are proud of them and their dealings. Their stocks are good and their ways of dealing fair and honorable.

Surely you have not fallen into the common error of supposing you should go out of town to trade or send away for goods needed when you can in reality more easily and profitably buy at home.

THE MESSAGE OF CHRISTMAS

What is the message that Christmas brings,
Is it rich in quiet thought,
Do we ponder again the sacred things,
That our gentle Master taught?
"Love one another as I have loved you"
Does this live in our hearts today,
Do we seek to comfort, bless and heal,
In the Master's own sweet way?
Are our minds so filled with His gracious love,
That the warmth of its radiant glowing,
Will loosen the sigh in a hungry heart,
And fill it to overflowing?
Let us cease from the rush, and remember,
That the really worthwhile things,
Are born to us in the quiet hush
Of thought,—which love ever brings,
"Love one another as I have loved you,"
Lord, help us to find this sweet way,
Help us to find and to tenderly live it,
On Christmas and every day.
—MRS. LENA H. FARRAR.

Norway, Maine.

Nate Merrill went to the C. M. G. Hospital, Lewiston, and was operated on for hemorrhoids last Friday. He is reported as getting on well as expected.

Norway Municipal Court

Wm. F. Jones, Judge

Wilfred Valley of Paris Hill, on Wednesday, pleaded not guilty to the charge of threatening a young woman. He waived reading of the warrant and the examination on advise of his counsel, Eugene F. Smith, Esq. Probable cause was found and respondent was bound over to the Grand Jury in the sum of $1,000. Bail was furnished by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valley.

Doris Wilson, the complainant, alleges that while walking on the highway she was stopped by the respondent, who was carrying a gun. She charges him with using improper language and threatening her personal harm.

George Herrick of Portland is calling on relatives in this vicinity. Mr. Herrick, for many years was carpenter for Dr. C. A. Stephens.

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

Furniture and other articles at the office of the late Dr. Harry P. Jones are offered for sale in the Intelligence Column. Better read that ad., then act promptly.

Does it pay to advertise? I'll say it does. Myron Paragard lost a bunch of keys. He told us his troubles and an ad was set up. Shortly before going to press, the telephone line sizzled with the news that the prodigal had been returned so we might "kill" the ad. The Intelligence Column certainly produces, but not so quickly in all cases.

We have a series of Christmas cuts for use in your Christmas advertising. Walter Chandler, the ad man, has them in hand. He will gladly show them to you.

Leon Ray Livingston, formerly a tramp known on the road as A. No. 1 left town Saturday for lectures in Mechanic Falls and Lewiston. We were told that at the Norway ticket window his humorous shot was "Pretty tough luck to pay fare on a road I once bummed so many rides on."

The ex-King of Tramps, nationally known for 31 years in hobo camps as "A No. 1," made us a pleasant call Friday afternoon. No more does he jump freight trains, for free rides or bluffs "chucks" from rear doors. Some years ago he reformed, cast aside the "monicker," then married and settled down as Leon R. Livingston. He hangs his hat in Utica, N. Y., when home. That's not often, for the call to lecture nearly three years ago was irresistable. His missionary tour covers all the eastern states and the message to young people and their parents reaches practically every town and hamlet. Livingston is interesting and one of the most sociable chaps. Some change in the man since his last trip here in 1912 as a typical hobo, wearing travel stained overalls and jumper.

Delmore Robinson of Bridgton, salesman for Chase Brothers Co., of Rochester, N. Y., called to tell us about his trip to that city. He went with three other Maine salesmen as guests of the Chase Company, all winners in an interstate selling contest. Delmore finished fourth, so came within the money and good time. They attended receptions, demonstrations, visited the Chase nurseries, enjoyed small luncheons and auto trips—everything complimentary for services rendered.

C. W. Milliken of Lovell called and got some babbit for Mr. Fox, who is building a saw mill in that town. Mr. Milliken is a contractor and builder.

Lewis Davis has a variety of household goods for sale and his ad in the Intelligence Column tells the story and quotes prices.

Alton Bradford: "My Intelligence ads in the past have brought me good business. Here's one about double cotton blankets I am selling. That's the testimony from a chap who realizes the value of picking a spot read by the greatest number of people. His ad is in this paper. Read it.

Murch has the new fangled appliances of the heating plant in the cellar "fixed." He says, "It is fool-proof; all you now have to do is put the coal to it and wait results." We noticed the first morning after the fixing, the boiler had to be touched by the cunning hand of man.

"Cappy" Smith one of the promotors of boxing in town informs the Sporting Editor that another exhibition is contemplated. He and his Partner Henry Johnson wish to set up a ring in the Opera House for bouts early next year. The town fathers and the manager of the hall may not be in sympathy with the sport, and the Armory would again be called into service. "Cappy" needs more room to show off his talent in a ring larger than is possible in the present cramped quarters. The last show was orderly and the Deputy Sheriff present had nothing to do officially.

Louis Paret, of Moorestown, N. J., printer, writer, advertising man, camp owner and summer guest, has stopped his paper. He has taken it for years. We hope no reverse in business was the cause but rather lack of interest in the paper. We have always supposed he did it more to help out the paper than anything else.

A pocket book was brought in(Wednesday, by Oliver Foss which he found on the street. It awaits an owner.

Bert Hosmer found a bundle of cellar window sash and left them at this office Wednesday morning. Owner can find them parked in our front office.

Leroy Spiller, the health officer, sounds a warning to parents that measles and mumps are reportable diseases. When no physician is called, cases must be reported to the health officer. Within the past four days, three cases of measles and eight of mumps have developed, according to the health officer. The Community Nurse has visited the sick ones and is following up pupils absent from school. If possible, an epidemic will be prevented.

E. G. Mattor of the Cloverdale, as he entered the office Thursday, said: "Dry and dusty this morning." What do you think he meant?

C. D. Waters of Montpelier, Vt. in renewing his subscription, says:

"I have been having rather a hard run of luck for the last month. I returned from Springfield, Mass. Nov. 3rd and on the last train that run. On the 4th I was in Barre and got caught in the flood and did not get home until Saturday. From 3.30 P. M. the 4th to 8.30 A. M. the 5th I was marooned in a passenger car in a raging torrent in Barre Railroad Yard. I suppose it was fun but I can assure that if so it was a very mild type.

Down home Mrs. Waters was alone when the water came up with a rush and was six feet deep in our living rooms. She saved what she could but we lost our piano, books and book case, some furniture, etc., and of course the house was a wreck. You can have no idea of the ruin in this territory without seeing it: When we got out and could see what had happened to others, we congratulated ourselves on our good luck in the fact that we had a house over our heads, which was more than a good many others had.

One of my neighbors was run into by a big iron bridge, which came down the stream and went into his front door or at least tried to do so to the great detriment of the entire front of his house.

"Another lost his house altogether and others had their houses picked up and moved down street or into their neighbors' front yard as the case might be. I do not think there was a whole window in the business section of the city. The Montpelier "Argus" office was one of the worst wrecks in the bunch.

"I am not going to try to tell you the story. It would take pages.

"To wind up with, my wife was taken very seriously ill and is now in the Hospital and I expect will be operated on for removal of gall stones, tomorrow. I have pulled through so far just because I had to. I am a long way from being down and out yet. It's 'tuff' but I suppose it's all in the day's work."

Hints, Pats, Knocks.

Loose Pulley Squeakings

Pretty much all advertising in papers these days. Our's is no exception.

Look over the list. "What We Have for Sale." It is in another column. Something's in it you may need.

In the Oxford Democrat is a list of names of those attending school in some of the school districts of a hundred years ago.

In the Swift District of 1833 appears he names of 11 Swifts; 5 Hathaways and same number of Curtis's; Morse, 7. Total attending school, 66.

High Street School in 1829 had 85 scholars. There were 10 Pratts and a good many Jacksons.

In the Farrar district 1830 there were 12, with the Farrars in the lead.

In the Curtis district, 1830, had 25 scholars, with 6 Dolloffs and same number of Curtises.

The Greenwood school of 1828-29-30, 53 scholars, 15 of them of the Young family.

Total for the 5 districts, 254.

Towns may try to avoid it—get out from under some how but its sure bet the highway will be kept open for auto and truck service in the winter. There is a 7 to 1 demand for it. Norway and Paris might as well tumble to it first as last.

We recently received a circular from the Goodwill Greeting Card Company of Auburn, Ind. We wrote to them, thinking at one time they were in business at West Bethel. The reply follows:

"We are the same concern that was formerly located at West Bethel, Maine. Mr. H. P. Dennison Mr. Louis G. Whitten and Mr. Wesley Dennis, all formerly of West Bethel are still with the firm. Mr. Whitten is president and general manager.

"The firm has been successful and the business is growing to quite a large one. The principal product is Christmas Greeting Cards and we have many thousands of customers in all the States of the Union.

"The company employs over one hundred people and are busy the year round.'

Herbert Thomas, son of F. P. Thomas of Andover, gets called to come to Rumford as town manager pretty often. Each time the call comes it is met with an increase of salary in Camden, where he is town manager and Herbert remains there. He shows excellent judgment in remaining.

Dallas L. Benson our old friend sheriff and game warden, who arrested us for illegal fishing, writes us from Fresno, California, that he is soon to return to this state. Maybe he thinks he can catch us again.

Here is an extract from a personal letter. We don't know as we should print it. To state existing facts is often unpopular and dangerous, especially in reference to human nature and the Volstead Act. Here it is:

"Yesterday I called at a home where right thought and living is a habit. The man brought out a large glass container, poured out a glass of liquid, in color similar to port wine, and passed it to me with the remark, "Here's a new one." It was a very fair wine. Had some "kick" to it, just enough to be inviting and friendly. Was made from the water in which beets had been boiled. The water was simply strained and put in the jar, then a few things easily obtained were added, with a yeast cake. Nature and time did the rest. These same people make wine from dandelion blooms, from blackberries, from elderberries, from red clover blooms, etc., etc.

"A man known to me, fine fellow, too; has a nice home and family. He himself holds a responsible position—with one firm for thirty years. When license was in vogue he (perhaps) drank half a dozen glasses of beer during the year; made it a habit to buy one bottle of whiskey and three bottles of wine for Christmas each year. This supply was for the entire family for a whole year. What now? This year he made a 50-gallon cask of grape wine. Last year he made thirty gallons, the year before, twenty gallons. He says, 'My friends enjoy a glass of wine, they like the kind I make and it gives me some pleasure to see them drink it.'

"I could tell endless stories like these. Every grocery store in the land is selling hops and malt; big stores in Boston are stocked with goods and appliances for making beer, wine and "likker," and there is hardly a family in the country that does not either buy bootleg or 'make their own.'"

We do not question the truth of the above in the least. Look about you and you will find the same condition prevailing pretty much everywhere.

Why? There is a craving for stimulants in 85 per cent of humanity.

A lady came to the house the other evening to get the angora kitten. She saw the notice in the paper and seemed disappointed when told of a change of mind in getting a home for it. Sorry, but it's true.

We "set" our clock upstairs once in every 12 hours. The clock is all right but the town clock has variation spells pretty regularly. Thus we have mind occupation whenever either clock strikes. Wouldn't change it if we could.

We bought the clock of M. M. Robinson of Lakeport, N. H., 49 years ago come spring and had it charged to the advertising account of the Laconia Democrat. The clock, like the writer, is old and requires care and attention to keep going.

Judge Whitman says: "If anybody but yourself calls you old, I'll have something to say to them." That would be punishment surely.

W. Tudor Gardiner looked in on us the other day. He is a good looker. We looked at him and to Don Partridge, his body guard.

We know of no reason why he shouldn't be governor if he wants it. He says he does. So say John Smith and Bro. Hinckly.

Were it left to us to choose, we should call on Col. A. J. Stearns of this town and make arrangements for him to fill the vacancy when it occurs.

About twelve months ago, the "Up-Lifters" got rampant and were seized with an idea of a library building. They circulated a petition so adroitly as to get 62 of the first citizens to sign it. Hard-fisted, level-headed men—not three of the lot wanted the library building. They signed so as not to offend. By fluke on legality the town meeting got on the rocks and amounted to nothing except to give the printer money and create annoyance.

NORWAY WELL DESCRIBED

We were recently on the train between Montreal and Portland, Maine, on our way to Norway.

Two salesmen, quite evidently used to the road, were having lunch at the table next to ours, when the train pulled into Coaticook, where it stopped for some time.

Conversation lagged as it always does in sudden stillness.

Finally, in search of something to break the silence one man asked the other where he was going.

"To Norway," was the reply. Ever been there?"

"Yes. Mighty fine town that. Something about the place you know—" And the other nodded, adding, "Nice people down there."

That's just it, we thought, "Something about the place." Everyone who knows Norway likes it for the same inexpressible reason. Not for any one thing, but for a combination of many. It can not be described. You have to know it for yourself."

—Norway Nymph.

L. B. Costello of the Sun—that good down river daily newspaper—called on us the other day. He is tall, in the prime of life, a little cumbersome in action, but always serious and sensible.

He looked over our shop and nothing out of the usual escaped his attention, not even our lack of teeth and infirmity of speech.

He says they are using a carload of white paper per week and are selling a little in excess of 31,000 copies per day of the two editions.

When accused of making a raft of money, he smiled and said,

"I wish it was so. The expense of making a paper is something enormous. You know that."

Yes, it is true.

He didn't offer us any of the stock of the Sun Corporation or speak of the number of bonds paid in the last 12 months.

He was silent on that interesting subject.

The late town manager of Rumford, Major Hiram A. R. Gray, talked too much. He gave too much copy to the local paper. He outshown all others in the place and was dropped eight months out from the start.

We hope his successor, Bion F. Jose, of Gardiner, will be wise and silent; dealing out copy to the home paper in good form and sparingly. If so, he will succeed. No doubt of it. The Major would have had he adopted this plan.

Have you started your Christmas Club savings for 1928? Do it at once. Don't delay.

It is reported in the daily press that D. M. Forbes, Bethel, has sold the Oxford County Citizen to his foreman, Carl Brown.

The angora kitten, 3 months old, has caught a mouse. It was an achievement! She is not allowed to visit the cellar as the rats are bigger than the cat. Not for a while.

Norway's Nursing Service

The Norway Nursing Service Committee with the Advisory Board and Finance Committee met for the December meeting Tuesday evening at the office, 174 Main Street. Mrs. Theresa Anderson of the home office at Augusta was present. One of the interesting reports was that of the Christmas Health Seals. Instead of the house to house canvass as has been conducted heretofore it has been done through the mails, the packet containing seals with a letter of explanation, and a stamped, addressed envelope. Perhaps all who receive seals and are in doubt whether to purchase or not, do not realize that every dollar returned to the treasurer, helps the local nursing service to the extent of eighty cents.

Perhaps some one receiving seals can sell some of them to their neighbor whose name was not on the mailing list, as this is new this year and is still very incomplete. Why not try it?

Already over $100 has been received from the seals and several Health Bonds have been sold.

The first class in the Home Hygiene and Care of the sick will be started next week, at the office.

Mrs. Bertha Noyes, secretary of the Norway Nursing Service, has been elected one of the directors of the Maine Public Health Association.

Several matters of business were discussed and Mrs. Anderson told of work being done in different parts of the State.

Miss Davis made her monthly report which will be published next week.

WOUNDED BY ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF GUN

Walter Neimi, 21 years old, had his left leg shattered late Saturday by an accidental discharge of a gun. After emergency treatment at home he was taken to the Central Maine General Hospital at Lewiston, where an operation was performed, Monday. He is reported on the gain.

The accident occurred back of his home on Frost Hill, Norway, while he, in company, with his younger brother, were searching for a missing dog. SOUTH PARIS NEWS

Woman Committed Suicide

The body of Mrs. Susie J. Wyman aged 70, was found hanging in the attic of her residence on Pine Street Saturday. Thursday night she was with Miss Gertrude George and on Friday went to her home where she was alone in the house. A light burning in the attic during Friday night attracted the attention of the neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. George Skinner, and an investigation led the searchers to the lifeless body. Dr. W. B. Raymond, County Medical Examiner pronounced it suicide.

Her husband Samuel S. Wyman died a few months ago and for several weeks she had been spending nights with her daughter, Mrs. Willard Clark. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Hollis who occupied the up stairs tenement in the house moved Thursday. The fact she was to be alone and that her husband had gone is believed to have prompted the act.

Her son, S. Wesley Wyman of Lewiston arrived, Saturday forenoon intending to stay an indefinite time with his mother, who had been expecting him.

Mrs. Wyman was born in St. Albans, Vt; May 17, 1857. She married Samuel S. Wyman. They celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on the 17th of May, which was also Mrs. Wyman's seventieth birthday.

Eight children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wyman of whom three are living—Mrs. F. A. Sedgeley of Burnham Junction; S. Wesley Wyman of Lewiston and Louise, wife of Willard Clark, of South Paris. There are fifteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The Wymans had lived in South Paris about ten years, coming here from Leeds. She was a member of the South Paris Baptist church, of Wm. K. Kimball Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Auxiliary of Joshua L. Chamberlain Camp, Sons of Veterans. She was always bright and cheery and was often the life of the party in a gathering of younger people.

The funeral was held at 1 o'clock on Tuesday at the Baptist church, was attended by Rev. E. B. Tetley.

"Making Daddy Behave"

Because a factory girl put a photo and address into the pockets of several shirts, the entire male contingent of one family fell into a trap. This furnished the plot and led up to hilarious comedy, during the process of teaching the "Old Sheik" a lesson and untangling the mess.

The three act play, "Making Daddy Behave," was presented at Association Hall Tuesday evening, coached and staged by Harold A. Anderson and under the auspices of the Odd Fellows.

Charles H. Brown was "Burges Lukens," the elderly sheik, and one of the shirt-worker victims. His family taught him a lesson, and never again would he mix up with designing flappers.

Martha Barrows as "Becky" and Barbara Gray as "Marion" were Lukens' daughters. They had love affairs of their own and worked their plans while using their father's predicament for a lever.

Ida Chapman impersonated "Grandma Tilden," young appearing matron with strong leanings toward the keen lawyer and a motive power in the joke.

William Cushman represented "John St. Clair," Lukens' lawyer, who staged the comedy that created the rumpus and fun, besides impressing a lesson.

Doris Marston played the factory girl "Ardita," a genuine flapper type. She appeared early on the scene to follow up the missives received from her shirt advertising campaign.

Alpha Thayer entered into the story as "David Standing," a Shakespearian marvel from some foreign clime. His ignorance of modern slang with frequent references to a pocket dictionary all but made him the so-called "goat" in the play.

H. A. Anderson was "Alberts," the typical English butler, who, beside Lukens and a chauffeur, found a photo and followed up the tip in correspondence.

Iva Cutting was "Mrs. Alberts," strong and full of fight after finding several letters the factory girl wrote her butler husband.

J. A. Tash as "Windham," the family chauffeur, was also hit by a photograph and fell into the general scramble.

Matti Lundell made a neat appearing secretary named "Byron Cleveland," who was courted by Becky, much against her father's wishes.

Myra Stevens appeared in the last act as "Mrs. McLaren," whose front name was "Ardita" and used by the other "Ardita" to exploit her schemes.

In settling the scrape, everybody had something on old man Lukens and he paid dearly for his fun.

Dancing followed with music furnished by a local orchestra that played between the acts.

Mildred Meader and Perley Burnett entertained the (L. A. L.) Club Wednesday evening at his home 5 Charles St So Paris. A nice treat of sandwiches, fancy cakes and coffee were served at 10 o-clock, and a pleasant evening enjoyed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewey Cox on Walcott St. Dec. 7th.

Martha French, aged seven, daughter of Mrs. L. A. French, has gone to Portland to spend the winter with her aunt. She will attend school there.

Mrs. W. S. Chandler. Mrs Evelyn Briggs and son, Chandler Briggs, were in West Paris, Sunday to spend the day with Mrs. Oscar Doughty.

DO IT NOW

If, with pleasure, you are viewing any work a man is doing,
If you like him or you love him, tell him now
Don't withhold your approbation, till the parson makes oration
As he lies with snowy lilies o'er his brow,
For no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it,
He won't know how many teardrops you have shed.
If you think some praise is due him, now's the time to slip it to him,
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny,
And the hearty, warm approval of a friend.
For it gives to life a savor and it makes you stronger, braver,
And it gives you heart and spirit to the end.
If he earns your praise—bestow it,
If you like him, let him know it,
Do not wait 'till life is over and he's underneath the clover,
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

A VERSE OF WOODROW WILSON'S

As a beauty I am not a star,
There are others handsomer by far,
But my face, I don't mind it
For I am behind it,
The people in front get the jar.

Lesson for December 11

ISAIAH COUNSELS THE RULERS

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 37:5-11; 14-20.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on Thee: because he trusteth in Thee.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Care for Jerusalem.

JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Care of a Nation.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—God the Ruler of Nations.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Recognition of God in National Affairs.

The committee has given as the scripture units chapters 7, 31, 36 and 37. It will materially help in the grasp of the lesson if brief attention be given to these chapters; therefore in the outline brief reference will be made to chapters 7 and 31 while confining the main exposition to chapters 36 and 37.

I. Isaiah's Message to Ahaz.

1. Prophecy concerning Immanuel (ch. 7).

The occasion of this prophecy was an invasion from the north by Israel and Syria. This invasion greatly alarmed Ahaz. To calm his fearful heart Isaiah assured him that God's purpose concerning the nation would not fail. He urged the exercise of faith in God, offering to confirm his faith by working any miracle desired. While with false humility he refused a sign the prophet announced the giving of a sign which would be the birth of Immanuel.

2. A promise of divine protection (ch. 31).

Ahaz foolishly called for the help of Assyria and Egypt against Israel and Syria. Isaiah rebuked him for this, showing him clearly that his only help was in God.

II. Judah Invaded by the Assyrians (Isa. 36).

1. Rabshakeh meets a deputation from Judah (vv. 1-21).

He represented Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, whose mission was to induce Judah to surrender. His method to accomplish this was:

(1) Intimidation (vv. 4-9).

He tried to bully them into submission.

(2) Misrepresentation (v. 10).

He asserted that it was useless for them to put their trust in God and even declared that the Lord had sent him to destroy Egypt.

(3) He tried to create a panic among the people (vv. 13-21). Fearing such a panic the deputation of the Jews urged Rabshakeh not to speak in the Jews' language.

(4) He promised them plenty in another land (vv. 16, 17).

2. The report to Hezekiah by the deputation (v. 22). They rent their garments in fear and dismay over their perilous condition, for the crisis long before predicted by Isaiah had now come upon them.

III. Hezekiah's Behavior (Isa. 37).

1. Resorted to the House of the Lord (v. 1).

This is a sure retreat for God's people in time of distress (Ps. 73:16, 17; 73:18). This action was prompted by faith, for God had promised that whoever in time of distress resorted to His house would be heard by Him (II Chron. 7:15, 16).

2. Sent to Isaiah (vv. 2-7).

The natural and logical thing for the king to do under such circumstances was to send for God's prophet.

3. Hezekiah's prayer (vv. 14-20).

Rabshakeh, who seems to have withdrawn from Jerusalem for a little while, now returned from Sennacherib with a letter warning Hezekiah against trusting God for deliverance, for no God was able to stand against the Assyrian army. He spread the letter before the Lord and prayed.

(1) He recognized God's throne, making it the ground of his plea (v. 16).

He reposed his faith in the lordship of Jehovah, knowing that all power and authority resided in Him.

(2) He recognized the peril which threatened the people (vv. 17-19).

(3) He asked for deliverance (v. 20).

4. Isaiah's message to Hezekiah (vv. 21-35).

(1) That Sennacherib's sin was blasphemy against the Holy One of Israel (vv. 21-23).

(2) That Sennacherib had forgotten that he was an instrument in God's hand (vv. 24-28).

(3) That judgment upon Sennacherib was imminent (vv. 29-35).

IV. The Assyrian Army Destroyed (vv. 36-38).

The angel of the Lord went forth and slew in the camp of the Assyrians 185,000 men, so Sennacherib was turned back by the way he came.

The Bible as a Foundation

I have always found in my scientific studies that when I could get the Bible to say anything upon a subject it afforded me a firm platform to stand upon, and a round in the ladder by which I could safely ascend.—Lieutenant Maury.

God's Giants

All God's giants have been weak men, who did great things for God because they reckoned on His being with them.—Hudson Taylor.

SWEDEN—BLACK MT.

The epidemic, which sorely beset our healthful and prosperous community late last fall is once more in our midst. Every diagnosis, has as -et, failed to uncover a cure for this malady, which claims its victims from the homes of the elite and in most cases the female members of the family take the germ much more readily than the males. It has been reported that some of the cases have reached the chronic stage and even in the mild cases, the poor patients are spending many sleepless nights, enduring the agony of it. 'Tis the 'Bridge' distemper, highly contagious, with practically no 'isolated' cases. Is it any wonder that the contagion has become general? Where will it all end? We remember the ringpong addicts, who lived to recover from the ravages of it; we remember the poor mortals who were afflicted with 'mah jong' and later, who recovered their mental balance, even the 'cross-words' have again taken their place in society, with nothing worse than an enlarge vocabulary; regular doses of static have cured the radio bug. Let us hope then, that this latest dread malady may, in due time, run its course, and that our wives and daughters shall once more become—instead of hollow eyed—hallowed.

But we are glad to chronocle that our sufferers from 'bridge' are quick to note the suffering of others. Their action in raising generous sum for the unfortunate citizens of Vermont, at the recent event at K. of P. The Conway Box Co. must regard our Fire Department as an efficient force, as it has been observed that smoking is permitted by their help, amongst the lumber piles. We enjoy a smoke as well as the next one, but it seems to us that promiscuous cigarette and pipe smoking in and around a couple of million feet of dry lumber was, if not actually tempting Providence, it is certainly putting a lot of dependence on a small town fire department.

KEZAR FALLS

Among the Thanksgiving guests, who were gladly welcomed to their respective homes were Emery Ridlon and Herbert Elliot from Orono, Malcolm Stanley of Bowdoin, Marion Lord from Pittsfield, Lillian Giles, Carolyn Stanley, Muriel Doe, Mildred Mitchell, Annette Callaghan and Helen Pratt from Bates, Margaret L. Chellis represented the New Hampshire State University, Neal Stanley the Maine School of Commerce, Portland, also Allen M. Chellis of the same city. Mother Nature was decked out for the occasion and shone resplendent in white with garniture of silver and diamonds, while the scenery was beautiful, the travelling was execrable, especially for automobiles, many of them coming to grief on the homeward way. One traveller from Kezar Falls, during a ride of some eighty miles, more or less, had full opportunity to play the role of Good Samaritan. In one instance two men who had been gunning and had shot a hedgehog which they carried with them, got off the road, the car partly tipping over on its side and causing one of the hunters to realize the meaning of the line "the spine of the prickly porcupine," while his friend and partner stood over him, extracting the sharpened spear points as best he could. A little later on he noticed a car stationary in the road, a young lady standing on the running board, a perturbed expression on her face. He asked her very politely if there was anything he could do to assist her and she told him the car refused to go farther, he found on inspection the car had good reason for insubordination, being out of gasoline. Fortunately he had chains on his wheels and a tow line in his tool chest and being a young man of expediency, the car was attached and hauled to its desitnation, some twelve miles away. Somewhere on the road he found himself on a fairly steep hill with two cars seemingly parked at the foot and he could not keep his car back and had to coast down, honking for all he was worth. He managed to rouse the owners of the cars to a realizing sense of the situation, and they quickly opened a space between through which he triumphantly slid. The above are a few, not all of the happenings of that afternoon, when asked what his passengers on the back seat said (they had been with him from the start) if they had any orders to give during the various emergencies. he replied, "They conducted themselves well. Not a yip."

Rev. Arthur Callaghan, Mrs. Callaghan and their daughter, Annette, who is a student at Bates, spent the holiday at Freeport with Mrs. Callaghan's sister.

Mrs. Mary Page and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Stanley and children enjoyed their Thanksgiving in Saco at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Strout.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Garner and family spent Thanksgiving with Doctor and Mrs. F. G. Devereux in Portland. Their son, Allen F., is recovering nicely and gaining strength every day. He hopes to return to Lowell in another week to resume his studies in the Textile school.

Mrs. George Stewart, who returned from a hospital a few weeks ago, is seriously ill.

Doctor Magnus Ridlon, who has bought what some years ago used to be the John Newbegin house, will soon move into his new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bradshaw are comfortably settled in the house where Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Towle lived for many years.

Agnes, wife of George Stewart, passed from this life on the morning of Tuesday, November 29th, aged sixty-five years. Services were held at her home at 2 p. m. Friday, Dec. 2nd., Rev. Arthur Callaghan officiated. Two favorite Hymns were sung by Mrs. Elwood Elliott and W. T. Norton. "Break Thou the Bread of Life," and "Sometime We'll Understand." Many relatives from out of town were present. Mrs. Stewart leaves beside her husband, one son, James M., to console his father in his lineliness. In the years that have gone, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were called upon to part with two of their children, the oldest and the youngest. John, the first born, almost man grown. the pride of their hearts, excelling in all desirable attributes, and again after the lapse of a few years, winsome Annie, loving and beloved, heard the call. It is hard parting with those we love, but "sometime we'll understand." Flowers were many and beautiful and the bearers of the precious clay were chosen from among the relatives. Interment in the Kezar Falls Riverside Cemetery.

Edgar Giles of Hotel Malvern has been called upon to mourn the loss of his father, John Manson Giles, who died in Boston at the home of one of his daughters, at the ripe age of eighty-seven years. Services were held at Hotel Malvern, conducted by Rev. Arthur Callaghan at 2 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 3rd. Mrs. Elwood Elliott and W. T. Norton sang two selections, "Does Jesus Care" and "Sweetly Resting," the while beautiful flowers with their comforting fragrance yielded mute solace and sympathy to the mourners. Mr. Giles' wife died four years ago. They were the parents of nine children, seven of whom are living. there are also a number of grandchildren. Interment at Brownfield.

Preparations are being made for the concert and tree at the M. E. Church. The committee, who are as follows, are "hard at it," Mrs. Frank Emery, Mrs. Alvah Weeman, Ruth E. Garner, Ruth Palmer, Mrs. W. T. Norton.

Lillian Giles of Bates College was called home to attend her grandfather's funeral.

The L. M. R. C. and friends to the number of forty-six on the night of November 30th, attended the chicken dinner at the New Lincoln. Music, games, etc. followed the dinner. As usual at this popular resort, everything was par excellence.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stewart of Manchester, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Alec Dobson of Pittsfield, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wescott of Lewiston, Owen Griffith of West Medford, Mass., and the Stewarts of Worcester, Mass., were in attendance at Mrs. George Stewart's funeral.

Give Her the World's Champion Car!

JUST two bright keys in a dainty jewel case! But no Christmas package ever held a greater treasure of happiness—for out in the drive stands a smart, trim Studebaker Commander—and those keys make it her own.

What pleasure you'll take in giving her this world-champion motor car—the car that climaxed its championship career by traveling 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 minutes! This dramatic run was made by strictly stock Studebaker Commanders under the supervision of the American Automobile Association. Nothing else on earth ever traveled so far so fast.

Neither she nor you may be interested in the high speed which The Commander is able to maintain for long distances. But you are interested in the sturdy design which made possible better than a mile a minute for a distance equivalent to a circuit of the world. Such stamina spells utmost reliability on your trips across town or across the continent. It means long life, low-maintenance cost, superlative service.

Drop in today and we'll give you the Keys. Her Commander will be at your door Christmas Eve or Christmas morning—whenever you say. Then no one's wife will have a happier Christmas than yours!

Important—The initial payment on any Studebaker or Erskine car, if purchased under the liberal terms of Studebaker's Budget Payment Plan, would amount to little more than the cost of an assortment of the usual Christmas trinkets. If you are interested in this plan ask your nearest Studebaker dealer for particulars. If you have a car to trade in, it may serve as the first payment.

The buildings occupied by Carlton Millett, on Plummer Hill, were entirely consumed by fire, Friday forenoon. Mr. and Mrs. Addison Millett and the older boys from the schoolhouse nearby were the first to arrive and they together with Mrs. Millett had barely time to save the most of the furniture, bedding, and some clothing from the main house, but everything in the kitchen was burned, starting in the barn, the fire was not discovered until it was all ablaze inside. A nice cow and calf were burned, also a truck and gasolene wood sawing outfit which was in the barn and a quantity of dry wood in the shed. Quite a loss and a hard time of year to be burned out, with a family of five children.

DRIVING OUT OF RUTS

Attempting to drive out of a deep rut places a severe strain on the parts of the front axle assembly. But if the car is brought to a complete stop, the wheels are turned to one side as far as possible, and the car backed, the wheels will easily mount the sides of the ruts without the least strain.

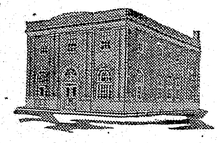
Wouldn't You Like to Have a Check

TO PAY YOUR CHRISTMAS BILLS?

Of course you would—but the main thing is to insure its coming! Money is always needed at Christmas time, but there are a very few of us who can frankly say that we have all we need. It is the one time of the year when the need of ready cash is most keenly felt, and when a check of twenty-five, fifty or a hundred dollars would be highly appreciated.

You Can Have It

All that you need to do to insure its coming to you is to deposit small sums of money weekly, and draw the total, plus interest, two weeks before Christmas.



We Will Help You

Many folks are perfectly willing to save, but dislike to deposit small, insignificant sums. But we are glad to inform everyone that our Christmas Club is the final answer to this objection.

Any of These Classes Are at Your Disposal

You can join any one of them—or more than one if you so desire.

Class 25—25 cents each week totaling $12.50.

A Mother Who Pushes a Baby Sleigh

Asks a Few Questions

When is the person pushing a baby sleigh going to travel on Main street? It is becoming the custom so rapidly of shoveling all the snow off the sidewalks that one has to keep bobbing out into the street or walk in the road entirely. Is it right to so endanger the lives of the mothers and the babies?

Automobiles are very numerous in winter now as everyone knows, especially up and down the business section, yet babies in sleighs are forced out in the thorofare with them.

If shop keepsrs and owners of real estate on the Main street would leave a narow strip of snow on the side walk next to the curbing, this would solve the problem in a very safe, satisfactory way. Just a little thoughtfulness will do the trick.

COMMUNITY CHRISTMAS

Christmas is approaching and there will be urgent calls for the things that make Yuletide a happy time. Again will the community respond and provide cheer to many unfortunate ones, laboring under the burden of sickness or loss of work.

Community Christmas, established a few years ago, proved a success on the start, and has gained momentum under the guidance of the W. C. T. U., Red Cross, the churches, the clubs and other bodies. Directing their combined efforts, material goods and money into one channel has done a whole lot to carry a practical Merry Christmas into homes which otherwise might not know about the goodnes of Santa Claus.

Is there a Santa Claus? If in doubt, ask the women of Norway who the past few years have labored early and late to carry food, clothing, candy and toys in to many of our homes.

Again, peep into these homes where trees laden with gifts have been provided. Perhaps not one hour before anything but a Merry Christmas confronted a sad mother. The answer is simple—there is a Santa Claus. It is for every individual to act as Santa's workman.

This humanitarian service does not end with the passing of the holiday. The work is carried through the year and a call in spring, in summer, in autumn or winter is first investigated and answered with assistance as the case may require.

There is now an appeal for money, clothing, vegetables, canned goods, books for children, and toys.

New clothing may be left at Mrs. P. H. Nevers'; second hand clothing at Miss Etta Noyes'; money and check should be made payable and sent to Mrs. Harriet Brown, Crescent St. Vegetables and other contributions will be received at the E. N. Swett Shoe Co. basement, as he has kindly given the use of a room for this work.

NORWAY WOMAN'S CLUB

A very interesting meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at the Legion Hall with about eighty present. Eight new names were reported. The grammar grade orchestra, which is made up of about fourteen boys and girls under the direction of Miss Flavin, played several selections, making their first public appearance at this time, and they did themselves proud. The Club voted to purchase a ten dollar Health Bond and to donate the sum of five dollars for the Community Christmas project.

Rev. George F. Finnie of the United Baptist Church, Lewiston, was the speaker of the afternoon, and he talked on "Folks": Folks whom he had met in his travels and the impressions they made on him. His talk was very interesting and much enjoyed. The orchestra played another selection and encore [illegible] ing.

A social hour followed and the committee with Mrs. Mary Kimball, chairman, served hot chocolate and cake.

The next meeting will be held January 3rd as the other December meeting will be omitted. Hon. William [illegible] will be the speaker and all the Women's Clubs are invited. These include the Barton and Browning Reading Clubs, the W. C. T. U., Veranda Club, Norway Lake Mothers' Club, Heywood Club, and the Legion Auxiliary. The Committee for the Tea to be served after the meeting includes Mrs. Bessie Hutchins, Mrs. Annie Carroll, Mrs. Alice Fuller, Mrs. Emma Sargent, Mrs. Helen Pendexter, Mrs. Clara Luck, Mrs. [illegible] Swett, Mrs. Etta Maxim, Mrs. Annie Knight, Mrs. Annie Andrews.

Edward S. Paret of Langhorne, Pa.

''As you seem to be the receiving station for all the lost, found, strayed, stolen or donated articles, I felt you would not object if I too presumed on your good nature.

''Have noticed in your paper the request for books for your library, more especially for the young folks. Tonight, having a little spare time, I have devoted it to digging and have found some which were my pride and joy when the 'teens commenced. Of course they are old, but I feel sure the fire in the stories will be found just as real today as I found them many years ago. Please look them over and will you kindly pass them on to the proper authorities. Some few of the books are for grown-ups, being a much later issue, but being once read, have done their duty here as a friend, so I am glad to pass them along as well.

''Occasionally I notice remarks about your visiting nurse's activities; perhaps sometimes about collecting funds, and the thought occurred to me tonight, why would it not be a good thing to write to all your foreign residents and ask them for a small donation. Every one of us who partake of the hospitality of the shores of your lake might need the services of that nurse; it is a splendid thing for any village to be so equipped and those of us who come frequently little realize what you folks have provided for our comfort. Just $1.00 each from us all would help swell your fund and at the same time bring to the donors notice that Norway is trying her best to provide creature comforts. My dollar is enclosed, it is very little, I know. No doubt if I knew the full situation, the dollar could be made to grow. I have seen such things before.

I also notice the ''Wearies'' are going to give the children toys for Xmas, here's a $1 for them, too.''

Don't Kick Your Town

There is no better evidence of a commendable community spirit than that of loyalty to a town in which a person lives.

If a town is worth living in it is worth defending and supporting in its efforts to advance with the rest of the world.

Yet in almost every community you will find people who can see nothing good in their surroundings.

They cannot recognize that fact, that though it may be humble, it yet is home—that it has clothed them and fed them and cared for them in sickness and in health, and has furnished them friends who have been steadfast and true.

They magnify its imperfections and spread clouds wherever they go.

They often make life miserable for others and invariably make it a reproach to themselves.

But there is a brighter side to this story.

The abuse these shortsighted people heap upon their places of abode generally falls upon unsympathetic ears.

Their neighbors and friends know them as they are—as people who might have been valuable citizens, capable of constructive work, but whose dispositions have been warped in younger days possibly through no particular fault of their own.

Their criticisms are listened to with good natured patience, but are forgotten about as soon as uttered.

The views of the chronic-kicker and fault finder have less weight than those of any other adult element of the human race.

When he thinks he is kicking his town, he generally finds that he is kicking himself instead.

Camp Fire Talk

By Helena A. D. Nelson

One of the distinctive things about Camp Fire is the use of symbolism; ceremony and ritual symbolism helps the girls to express their ideals and aspirations. Since Camp Fire originated in the United States, it seems appropriate in the United States, it seems appropiate to use the pure and simple symbols of the North American Indians. We find that symbolism shows first in the name "Camp Fire Girls." Again in the ranks; also in the name of the individual Camp Fire group and the individual Camp Fire girls.

Another symbol of the Camp Fire girl is her head band of beads or decorated leather, which she must have before becoming a Wood Gatherer. Her ceremonial gown (to be worn only at Council Meetings) is usually decorated with the symbol which illustrates her name, perhaps the name or motto of the group and possibly illustrations of some of the activities of her Camp Fire. Further symbolism is shown in the Recognition Pin or Ring; the Fire maker's bracelet; the Torch Bearer's Pin; the Guardian's Pin; decorations for gown, middy, or tam. Also on banners, pillows and other articles which Camp Fire Girls may purchase if they wish.

There is no regular uniform of the Camp Fire Girls. When they wish to dress uniformly for meeting, parades and other events, they wear a dark blue (or other dark) skirt, white middy and red or black tie. There are also blue tams and arm bands which may be worn.

For official publications Camp Fire Girls their manual, which is rather essential for each one to own; the "Hand-book for leaders of Camp Fire Girls." "The Guardian," a monthly magazine for campfire leaders. "Every Girls" a magazine issued every month excepting July and August.

What are the Abnaki Camp Fire Girles of Norway doing? What have they done? What activities do they plan for the future?

The Abnaki Camp Fire Girles commenced to organize in February, 1927, having asked the writer if she would be their Guardian. The charter of each girl was not received until May, as dues and charter fee of one dollar each had first to be earned and sent to headquarters. Then the spring meetings were held every other week, with perhaps a hike once a month as an extra feature. Later it was decided to meet every week as the girls thought they got more out of the organization and would be sure to remember that every Wednesday was Camp Fire night. Although more than half of the girls were away through the summer, meetings were called regulary. At these gatherings the girls took up reed (basket) and leather work. Most of the meetings thus far this Fall have been devoted to making articles for the fair which the Abnaki Camp Fire Girls held the third of December.

One ceremonial meeting has been held this fall. Miss Ruth Miller has given the a talk on the law "Seek Beauty;" Miss Bella Davis has given talks on other points of the "Law," "Hold on to Health," and Mrs. Helen Denison has started to teach the girls the official songs of Camp Fire.

Abnaki Camp Fire Girls have done a little community work since organization. They took part in the Memorial Day celebration last May; made posters for a food sale of the Norway Woman's Club; they have offered to stay with children of Norway Woman's Club members after school on "club" day; observed "National Book week" of the National Camp Fire Girls by presenting books to the Norway Public Library; assisted in the recent Tag Day for the children's department of the Norway Public Library; and this week the girls are assisting with the local Red Cross membership soliciting.

It is the aim of the Abnaki Camp Fire Girls to build up a program for the coming year on the "Law of the Camp Fire," which is "Seek Beauty, Give Service, Pursue Knowledge, Be Trustworthy, Hold on to Health, Glorify Work, Be Happy."

This program will include more talks, or instructions by the Community Nurse; learning the Camp Fire songs and cheers; talks by various people, on other points of the Law, or some other subjects of particular interest to Camp Fire Girls; Council Fires; hikes; hand-craft such as painting, sewing, leather and reed work; an occasional party and perhaps later on some sort of entertainment or exhibit. It is also hoped that to help celebrate the National Camp Fire Birthday, which is in March, a Parent-Daughter supper can be arranged. This meal would be entirely in charge of the girls; planning, preparing, serving and so on.

When possible, the Abnaki Camp Fire Girls are glad to "Give Service," to the community.

The motto of this group is "Banded together for a purpose."

The officers are President, Sarah Thurston; Secretary and treasurer, Clara Adkins; Press Correspondent, Caroline Downing.

Any girl eleven years old, or over, who is interested in Camp Fire, may visit two meetings of the Abnaki Camp Fire Girls. This group is open to six more girls who are willing to do their share in the activities and live up to the ideals, of Camp Fire. Written applications should be sent to the Guardian or Secretary, endorsed by the applicant's parent or guardian.

In closing this series of Camp Fire articles. It might be of interest to the readers to know what the Re-Dedication, or Creed for the Camp Fire Girls is:

"I believe in the future,
I believe, therefore, in the Today;
And I try to make my life
A joy to myself and
A pleasure to those about me.
I realize the destiny within me.
I try to find the beautiful in life,
And where it is not, I create beauty,
I feel my responsibility as a citzen of a great nation.
I feel my glory as one of the mothers of the new generation,
Which with new eyes and steadier steps
Will reach the high places that now
Are but a purple haze on the horizon.
I believe in the new womanhood
Which combines the beauty of the old womanhood
With citizenship and social consciousness,
I know I am and hold within me the promise of the future.
I realze my responsibility,
I do not flinch nor falter,
I am a Campfire Girl.

—R. W."

SQUIRRELS ARE ELECTROCUTED

With the arrival of the first frosts, the "trouble men" of the Central Maine Power Company are sharpening their climbing spurs for the yearly battle with the squirrels.

Acorns, butternuts, hickory nuts and the few remaining chestnuts are ripening, and the squirrels are busy gathering their winter's food. To a squirrel, a porcelain insulator high up on a cross-arm looks like a superior hickory nut. The squirrel investigates, usually in the early morning, when the cross-arm is still wet with dew. The squirrel puts his paws on the insulator and tries to gnaw it. His hind feet are on the damp wood, and if he happens to touch the wire, as he usually does, there is a short circuit. This ends teh squirrel's troubles and starts those of the trouble-man, who must follow the line, sometimes for miles, until he finds the spot where the casualty occurred.

Enterprising squirrels have so seriously menaced the service in some up-State lines that the electric companies have found it necessary to girdle thousands of poles with belts of galvanized iron. The squirrel cannot climb up a pole so equipped. Thus his little life is saved, the service is not interrupted, and the trouble-man is freed for other tasks.

DO YOU REALIZE DANGER?

Few people who drive automobiles fast realize the element of danger involved when the necessity arises for stopping suddenly. One interested in public safety has figured out that a car going sixty miles an hour covers 88 feet per second; a car going 30 miles an hour means 44 feet per second; and a car travelling 15 miles an hour is going at a rate of 22 feet each second.

If a man driving his car at 60 miles an hour does not see another car coming out of an intersecting street until he is 88 feet from it, he has only one second in which to stop. It cannot possibly be done.

If a man driving 30 miles an hour and sees another car coming out of an intersecting street when he is 44 feet from it, he has one second to stop. That is impossible.

If a man drives his car 15 miles an hour and does not see another car coming out of an intersecting street, or a child dodging out from behind a parked machine, or a woman with a baby carriage suddenly starting to cross, until he is 22 feet from the object, he has only one second in which to stop. It can't be done.

It might be well for motorists to make a mental note of these figures, and then realize that everyone who speeds, especially in congested districts, is endangering his life and the lives of others.

In shifting gears when the lubricant in the transmission housing congeals after a night out in the cold. A great deal of energy, an excessive amount of gear clashing and possible damage can be saved and prevented if the motorist will take the trouble to work the shift lever into every gear combination a few times before starting the motor. This will make a path through the stubborn lubricant.

BRIDGTON

Meeting of Literary Club—December Supper and Sale—Women's Club Meeting.

The Literary Club met Friday afternoon with Miss Eva L. Shorey, where the usual interesting program was held, the study on this occasion being "England at the Time of Henry VIII." There were papers by Mrs. Herbert E. Cole and Mrs. Willis E. Ingalls and nice refreshments were served.

The ladies of the M. E. Church hold their December supper and entertainment Thursday evening, in the vestry. A good crowd was present. The entertainment consisted of music, sketches, and a farce entitled "Uncle Hiram's Cold."

The Ladies' Farm Bureau met Tuesday in an all day session at K. of P. Hall with twenty-two members and one visitor present, and a picnic lunch at noon. The study of Lamp Shades was taken up and seven were made. Mrs. Ralph Dodge and Mrs. Fannie Warren were in charge of the meeting.

The Business and Professional Women's Club held their December supper and business meeting Tuesday evening, at Moose Hall. At the business meeting it was voted to move their headquarters to some other place, the place to be decided upon at a special meeting at "Marion's Beauty Parlors," Monday evening, Dec. 12th, at 7 o'clock.

The Methodist Church was filled to utmost capacity, Tuesday evening, called by the address by Rev. Herbert H. Holland of the Adventist Church, who was present at this December meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association to present his proofs, if any, that Evolution is being taught in Bridgton schools. His remarks were kindly and were followed by kindly remarks by Principal Harold T. Andrews and Sub-Master Raymond R. Chapman of Bridgton High School. This was followed by moving pictures on Portland, Alaska Fishing in Algonquin Park and Moose Hunting in New Brunswick, by George A. Harrison of Portland, general agent of the Grand Trunk National R. R. Devotions were conducted by Rev. Wm. A. Richmond. There was community singing of Association songs and a vocal solo by Miss Gladys Dews and after the meeting refreshments were served in the vestry.

The silver loving cup for largest percentage of attendance of parents at this meeting was won by Primary A-1st and 2nd grades. Miss Eudora Gould, teacher.

ENTOMOLOGY AND BOTANY FOR RURAL SCHOOLS

A nature study project involving a special study of common birds and insects for seventh grade pupils and a similar study of trees, flowers, and weeds for pupils in the eight grade are in preparation by the department of public instruction of Michigan for use in rural agricultural schools. The work will combine home and school activities and may be correlated with regular courses in English, geography agriculture and general science; it will be a prerequisite for courses in botany and zoology. It is expected that the course will be given by regular teachers, supervised by the teacher of agriculture.—School Life.

RECRUITING SERGEANT VISITS TOWN

Sergeant George Madden of the Regular Army Recruiting Service, with station at 129 Lisbon Street, Lewiston, was a visitor in town, Tuesday, looking for men for the Regular Army, as there are a number of vacancies to be filled in the 13th Infantry, stationed at Boston Harbor, Mass., but all foreign service assignments have been filled for the present.

The army offers good opportunities for advancement to the young man who is willing, there are also good opportunities for young men to learn most any trade that he may desire at the different trade schools established throughout the army, so that in case a young man does not wish to remain in the service after serving his first enlistment he can use the trade that he may have learned in the Army to advantage when he returns to civil life again.

A Question?

In looking over a package of papers of dates from 1815 to up in the eighty's, we discovered an envelope and subscription blank of Samuel B. Carter's, publishing the "Oxford Register," which he printed at Paris Hill.

The paper was established in 1869. The envelope bore in addition to the name of the paper, name of publisher, a picture of a bear adorned the corner above the name. Am wondering if that (emblem) picture is the name "Oxford Bear," which is applied to the people of Oxford County as it is 58 years since the Oxford Register was established. Who can tell?

BOXING CARNIVAL A SUCCESS

The boxing show staged at the Armory Monday night by a pair of local Tex Rickards, "Cappy" Smith and Henry Johnson, was truly the goods. They gave the capacity house, numbering more than 200 fans, a brilliant display of biffs and jabs, inside and outside wallops, plus foot work. There was strong arm stuff that opened the fountain from whence cometh the crimson stream. Everybody was satisfied, even the vanquished could find no fault with the service.

O. W. Roberts, the referee, danced not less than a dozen miles within the small enclosure. He kept the boys in action when the tendency to fondly embrace became a passion. The main bout featured this show of affection together with a tendency to gain a few moments repose on the mat. Probably copying the world's championship heroes was alleged by someone in the crowd.

The matches were four two-minute sessions except the big show that went six rounds of two minutes.

In the preliminaries McAllister and Jimmy Kilgore put on a curtain raiser which took great. Bartlett of Norway and Roscoe Melvin of Farmington were the second pair on the card. They appeared well matched during rounds one and two, but the last two whirls leaned strongly to Bartlett. Melvin left the ring with his face painted like an Indian on the war-path. Much of their work was punching holes in the dense tobacco smoke.

George Johnson, billed as the "Fighting Harp of Augusta," went after Bill House of Norway and all but wrecked that House. We understand this was Bill's first ring experience. Anyhow, he smiled under the punishment and proved one good sport. Fact is the smile was not expansive, for the upper lip looked inflated and not responsive as he left the scene.

The semi-final brought together two Company C boys, Pvt. "Muggins" Higgins and Sergt. Francis Haskell. They injected a variety of stuff into their dramatic seance, including snappy foot action, some clever sparring and a collection of body wallops generally ending with a business-like punch to jaw or eye winkers. They offered a good exhibition.

Speaking of big time stuff, the main bout drew the heavy stakes. Don Matheson, sometimes called "Twin Towns' Champion," battled with K. O. Paradis, alias "Flaming Youth" of Lewiston for four lively rounds, just two short of the distance. The boys had good wind, plenty of speed, much science and a tremendous kick behind the punches. Close-up stuff predominated. "K. O." played on the defensive and covered closely in the first and second. His habit of seeking the mat was noticeable during the same period. As the show proceeded, Matheson gained in every department and mixed 'em up, showing nice assortment and staying qualities, with a tendency to force the play. He set a pace that rang down the curtain at the end of the fourth round. Paradis was out of condition and said to be very clever when going good.

The exhibition netted a good sum for the Company and went through without discord. Many advisers sprinkled through the crowd told their favorites what to do and when to do it, but that's part of the game. Who wants to make a Quaker meeting out of a lively scrimmage? Probably other matches will follow in the near future.

EX-TRAMP LECTURED AGAINST WANDERLUST

A warning to children against the obsession of wanderlust that eventually leads to vagabondage was the high spot in a lecture by Leon Ray Livingston of Erie, Pa., at the Norway Congregational Church, Friday evening.

The speaker is a reformed wanderer, an author and orator, being nationally known by the roaming fraternity and railroad detectives as A No. 1. This "monicker" was conferred by the notorious hobo, "New Orleans Frenchy," to whom the speaker was initiated as a "kid." For 31 years he wandered over the United States, Continental Europe and South America, working only when compelled to earn his passage across the seas. For years he bummed, and willingly under the tyranny of "Frenchy," he begged, sold shoe strings and even committed larceny to keep his boss supplied with food, tobacco and rum.

With this first-hand knowledge of road conditions, the speaker exposed the perils of heeding the call to leave home and parents. He said more than 200,000 boys depart from home every year, 75,000 of whom become worthless tramps in an army estimated to number 400,000. As many thousand tramps are killed, die of disease, confined in prisons and insane houses annually, the army is recruited from the ranks of the boys who left home seeking their fortune.

Mr. Livingston suggested one method to curb the evil, whenever a strange boy or girl calls at your door begging, call an officer for an investigation. The children may be "pick-ups" for some professional hobo. Shun peddlers handing out pencils, shoe strings, court plaster or sympathy cards, nine cases out of ten the men are professional bums. The speaker emphasized that in his [illegible] since the World War he never has met a disabled veteran begging. They are [illegible] ing legitimate work and subscribed to canvassers they deserve our help. [illegible] ples working the community should be investigated.

If a tramp calling at your back door for a "hand-out" is willing to [illegible] with labor, he is not a professional, he is a down and outer, due to circumstances perhaps beyond his control. He will appreciate a job and may be considered worthy of any assistance," said the speaker.

Wanderlust is inherited from [illegible] cestors and we just can't help [illegible] of unrest, according to Mr. Livingston. Our forefathers migrated to this country and roamed for years and most of us are still at it. The speaker placed the [illegible] ses into two groups: first, law-[illegible] ers who pay their way as tourists; second, unlawful travelers, as tramps, hoboes and runaways. The [illegible] tioned are not the vicious type. The question of keeping in check this division is one of our nation's big problems. Stringent laws are right, but is a duty which parents must [illegible] Despite good home conditions, [illegible] for the road and girls are stolen and lost in the underworld. Mr. Livingston said in his years as a wanderer he met hundreds of tramps who, when they left kind parents and [illegible] reunions. It was some [illegible] conjured in a child mind that caused their heads. Shame kept them from returning for forgiveness and a life of decency.

His father [illegible] and a naturalized citizen [illegible] German, the family was [illegible] circumstances. Fearing [illegible] home for pranks at school, [illegible] "the age of eleven years. After months of [illegible] became separated from the [illegible] He dropped the "Kid" title [illegible] ated into a full edged tramp. [illegible] the years that followed, he was a [illegible] tourist across the country, [illegible] through Germany, Holland, Switzerland and South America, even [illegible] Klondike gold rush in 1896.

Once during this time he [illegible] returned home, but found both [illegible] dead. They had used their [illegible] nation wide search for him, and [illegible] poverty—physical and mental [illegible] 1914 he formed the acquaintance [illegible] young lady and reformed, [illegible] ilization and married. It was a [illegible] journey at 42 years to acquire knowledge, but the night school [illegible] during the days he worked for a living.

His missionary work the past two years is to fulfill a promise made in prayer when his son was on the point of death. If the child was restored to health, the father promised to devote the remainder of his life to spreading a warning against the obsession of Wanderlust. His prayer was answered, and true to his vow, Mr. Livingston gave up the comforts of home and family to keep boys and girls on the safe road.

He lectures without a contract, fixed price, or commission and depends entirely on the generosity of his audiences in the free will offering.

On his first trip he found that the barn door had been broken open and at the mill he also found that broken open, while there he fixed everything up solid, but when returning the next day the barn had been broken into again, he thought it must be someone that did not know the penalty of breaking and entering.

We learned, through Mr. Keniston, that Mr. and Mrs. Kimball, who had charge of the boarding house for him last spring, secured a similar position soon after they finished here, near Norway, and are there at this time.

Mrs. Emerson Bartlett received a letter from her son, Irving, who was in Massachusetts, that he was coming home Saturday, the 26th, and to meet him at the train at East Sumner, but while on her way to the station, she got a letter from Irving to the effect that he was not coming yet, but had drifted farther way down into the center of Rhode Island, and that he would write her a letter the first of the week explaining all. MEN ARE DIFFERENT

Suddenly the snake has become decorative.

To those of an older generation, particularly those who knew their Bibles, it is difficult to think of a serpent in a pleasant light.

Writers from the time of Genesis, down through the golden age of Rome, or from the time of the Pharaohs to the present have not ventured to make the snake other than treacherous or deadly.

Recent fashion notes proclaim that the reptilian idea in jewelry is the latest and smartest thing. Bracelets, necklets, brooches, earrings, rings, buckles and belts are made of this design.

And there are snakeskin bags and shoes as well to further utilize the reptile as a decoration.

Men are different. They may see snakes but they don't wear 'em.

BUXTON'S RHEUMATIC SPECIFIC

Gentlemen: As I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism, I wish to give this testimonial to give other sufferers courage to continue the treatment until they get a cure.

I had been troubled with Rheumatism since a boy, had Rheumatic Fever twice. My occupation, a blacksmith. I was badly bent over, my head drawn to one side, and at times was unable to work, as the pain was most agonizing. Three years ago I commenced taking Buxton's Rheumatic Specific. After taking 14 bottles, I had a complete cure, and have been free from Rheumatism ever since.

I believe all suffering with Rheumatism can get a cure if they will take a sufficient amount of the Specific.

Very truly yours,
Luther F. Gray, City Marshal.

June 4, 1925. Hallowell, Me.

We strongly urge all Rheumatic sufferers to give the Specific a trial. It will eliminate Rheumatism. Let us send you a booklet.

Buying at Home

The Local Merchant vs. Traveling Salesperson

The door bell rings and the lady of the house steps to the door and is met with the query "Can I show you some—?" and the answer should be and often is not, "No I thank you. I make it a point to buy each and every article I need as far as possible from merchants in my own town who contribute to the maintenance of the town and to the various community enterprises."

Such an answer is fair and just. There is no sin committed by the salesmen or saleswomen at the door. They are endeavoring to secure a living and are doing so honorably. But the matter doesn't begin and end with that statement. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred what they have to offer can be purchased from a local business house which pays into the public treasury a certain definite sum of money for the privilege of selling merchandise. The payment is in the form of taxes. The house to house transaction is different. The money goes from Norway and stays away from Norway and nothing whatever is left as payment for the right to do business.

The notion that you, as purchaser, profit sufficiently by the transaction to offset this is ridiculous. There is some standard price for merchandise and a lower price in almost every instance means a lower standard of product. It is a rare case in which most every instance means a lower standard of product.It is a rare case in which the consumer profits by these house to house methods. A sale once made is a sale closed. If the consumer is dissatisfied he remains so. on the other hand what happens if the hosiery, for instance, come from your merchant? If there is dissatisfaction you step into the store and find every reasonable cause for complaint rectified. Or there may be the opportunity for exchange from stock before your eyes and which may be fully examined. The transaction over, the money or a goodly part of it, remains in Norway to be circulated here. Perhaps it will be in your hands again in a very short time for it takes money a shorter time to travel back to you from Norway store than it does to Norway from Chicago or some other point West.

Your trade has also enabled your merchant to remain in business and to be ready for you on that day when there is no salesman at your door and you need something quickly or when you are unable to wait for merchandise to travel by mail or express.

The merchant is assessed a certain per cent on the valuation of his stock to support the schools that your child attends, the library where you read and the highways on which you travel. Your "direct to the consumer" manufacturer pays not a penny of this. And the fact that he doesn't have to pay anything makes it necessary that you pay more in taxes for the house in which you live. That is truth not fancy.

The situation is the same as it concerns mail order houses. The temptation to buy from the canvasser and from the mail order house is irresistible to many. Yet the prosperity of a community is known to depend upon the money in circulation. Money that is sent from Norway cannot circulate in Norway That's true is it not? Why talk of poor business while we are writing checks in payment of "C. O. D." packages from distant points? If a person cannot get the merchandise he desires at home he is justfied in going elsewhere. However, he cannot expect a live town, good business, well maintained public property and good roads if he makes his town merely a place in which to live but reduces to a very minimum his contribution to town business. A man cannot take much money from a bank if he puts but little money into the bank. A man cannot take much money from a community if he puts but little money into that community. To make a live Norway we should give to Norway business our own patronage.
